You are invited to join us for a special training session.

We are excited to announce that we will be hosting an additional four training sessions of our Local Medical Examiner Scene Training course throughout April and May of this year. The OCME values the work of the local medical examiners and per diem medicolegal death investigators and wants to be sure that you have an opportunity to learn the most up to date death scene investigation techniques and procedures.

This training session is expected to last 2 hours and is free to local medical examiners and per diem medicolegal death investigators.

Please arrive a few minutes early, as the session will start promptly at the noted start time. There will be a brief lecture followed by a mock scene for hands on learning.

The session being held in Manassas on Thursday May 3rd is part of our Spring 2018 LME Training. To register for that session you will need to complete the registration for the LME Training, which is separate from this flier.
